

Camel Races

The northern part of West Africa is part of the Sahara Desert. Many of the people travel by camel and many nomadic tribes still use camels to move from place to place.

Divide the children into two different teams for the camel relay race. Instruct the first person in each line to crawl on all fours while trying to balance a bucket or pillow (camel hump) on their backs. When the next child in line is tagged, they should also crawl on all fours with a “hump” on their back. Repeat this process until one team wins.
